1. [REDACTED] a Polish troop training area is located north of Arnswalde (O 54/R 13), between Arnswalde and Reetz (O 54/R 24). Informant saw Polish motorized artillery and numerous trucks there on 4 and 6 September 1950.
2. Prior to October 1950 a Polish motorized infantry regiment was stationed in Pultusk (R 53/F 04).*
3. No troops were observed in Mogilno (P 53/X 99) and Lipon (Q 53/J 75), prior to October 1950. A recruiting office headed by a captain was in Rawa-Mazowiecka (Q 52/F 43) in mid-August 1950.
4. A friend of source who had served as a reservist with the First Tank Regiment in 1949 stated that the First Tank Regiment and the Second Heavy Artillery Regiment were quartered in the barracks installation on the northern bank of the Narew River in Modlin (R 53/K 71). The informant also stated that an engineer regiment was located in Modlin. In April 1950 source saw a group of officer candidates on a train proceeding from Warsaw to Modlin. According to civilian travellers, the officer candidates attended a tank officer school in Modlin.
5. An employee of the Stettin port administration stated that Soviet troops were quartered in the barracks installation northeast of Mickiewicza Street, in the Krakow suburbs. The unit detached unloading details and executed guard missions in the port area.
6. During the period from September to November 1950, source continually travelled between Breslau (P 52/C 41) and Stettin, Stettin and Posen (P 53/X 26), Breslau and Posen and Breslau and Katowice (O 51/Y 57). No important military rail shipments were observed during that period.

* [REDACTED] Comment. The unit was probably a component of the First KBW Brigade, elements of which were observed in Pultusk in 1950.

 [REDACTED] Comment. The First Tank Regiment was previously believed to be stationed at some undetermined place in the First MD. A tank officer candidate school and the Second Engineer Regiment are known to be located in Modlin. See MGL-10512. A Second Heavy Artillery Regiment has not been observed with the Polish Army.

 [REDACTED] Comment. According to previous reports furnished by other sources in the fall of 1948, two barracks installations in Krakow were occupied by Soviet troops. The barracks installation east of Krakow allegedly quartered an artillery regiment. Motor
